

Opt for your own dildo toy out of the range

DILDOS have been used for centuries. They have been around since women realised that they had a drive for sexual gratification. Historians do not know who invented the dildo, but it became renowned because of the ancient port city of Greece - Miletus. Its traders used to sell these magical toys to lonely women searching for sexual gratification.

Dildos are fun, easy and safe to use. They vary in shape, size, colour and texture. There are as many dildo toys as there are females and males who make use of them. Dildos range from soft flexible silicone toys to rigid plastic ones. It rests upon your aims: whether you are planning to use it for vaginal or anal penetration, during a sex play with a sexual partner or masturbation.

Here are the most frequently selected dildos.

TRADITIONAL DILDOS are a very popular option. Most of them are shaped and colored to look like a real penis.

REALISTIC DILDOS are self-explanatory. They are intended to look and feel like a real penis. Realistic dildos can feel very real to the touch due to the material deployed in them that feels like human skin. The widely deployed material is called Cyberskin. It is smooth, soft, flexible and can even sustain heat once it warms up.

JELLY DILDOS are also pliable, but are not as silky and realistic as silicone dildos. In fact, jelly is a suitable material for people who want the realistic feel of a silicone dildo but do not want to buy a costly silicone toy.

DOUBLE-SIDED DILDOS are dildo toys that can be used from both ends. They include a long shaft with two phallic heads on both ends. These adult toys can be deployed by partners at a time or deployed as a masturbation toy providing the option of double penetration for females.

STRAP-ON DILDOS are dildo toys that are commonly designed for wearing with a harness. They are often deployed by those who are fond of BDSM.

GLASS DILDOS are commonly made of Pyrex glass. It is an extremely strong, scratch and chip-resistant material which can be warmed up or cooled down in the freezer for variations in temperature. Besides, smooth glass insures silky penetration and a much stronger orgasm. Therefore, glass dildos are more expensive than other kinds of dildo toys as well as are extremely beautiful and highly functional.
