

Travel to Asia: A Great Experience

I become quite excited when I think about Travel to Asia. It is world's biggest continent with highest population. Hence, an amazing mix of culture and tradition is an obvious and inevitable element of Asia. With amalgamation various countries and its specialty – India, land of tradition; China, legacy of dragon; Singapore, city of light; Angkor, way of Hinduism – Travel to Asia is one of the most lavish experiences of life.

Every country in Asia is a continent in itself due to the vastness and variety it offers. Hence, it is quite impossible for a person to travel around Asia in a single trip. So, your tour can be essentially divided into three parts: South East Asia, Indian Sub Continent, and Asia Pacific.

South East Asia - While you Travel to Asia, it's quite impossible to ignore the bunch of countries that comprise 'South East Asia'. This part includes countries like Laos, Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand, Vietnam, Thailand, Cambodia, and Singapore. Variety is considered to be the spice of life here as flying from one country to another is cheap. This bunch is like a vast country in itself with innumerable places to explore and several experiences to adore.

Indian Subcontinent – The variety and vastness of cultures and traditions found in India is unmatched. However, voyaging through this beautiful land that encompasses Taj Mahal, a wonder of the world, is one of the cheapest holidays you will ever find on earth. Similarly, the countries that comprise Indian Subcontinent – Pakistan, Bangladesh, Sri-Lanka, Tibet, and Nepal – offer vast assortment of unusual experiences.

Asia Pacific – Known for its financial stability, the countries of China, Japan, and Korea fabricate 'Asia Pacific'. A tour to Asia Pacific is quite different from South East Asia and Indian Subcontinent. People from all around the world travel to this part of the continent specifically to earn money. Land of another wonder of the world (the Great Wall of China), Asia Pacific attracts millions of tourists every year.

While you Travel to Asia, it's better to hire a professional guide because comprehending the nature and immensity of this continent will not be easy.
